How to write great adventure stories

---

★ Imagine that your character is stepping into their new world for the very first time.
Write down:

Anything they can see.
Anything they can touch.
Anything they can hear.
Anything they can smell.
Anything they can taste.

★ Write an introduction for your character that answers these questions:

Who is your explorer?

Why are they NOT a 'perfect' explorer?

What is your character's motivation for their exploration?

★ List three potential dangers that could arise in the world your character is exploring. Put them in order from least dangerous to most dangerous.

1.
2.
3.

★ Write a paragraph where your character faces a dangerous situation using these prompts:

What is your character already doing?

What are the first signs of danger?

How does your character feel?

What is the danger? How does your character respond?
