

[Stop-motion animation of a hand placing black-and-white photographs on a lightbox. There are four photographs, which overlap slightly and together form a single large image of a World War I battlefield. Men wielding bayonets climb out of a trench and charge across the barren ground, while biplane fighters engage in a distant dogfight. More photographic elements are added to the composition - explosions and plumes of smoke, towards which the soldiers are charging.]